IN MEMORY OF
ALAN CURTIS HALL
1960-2009
GATEWAY EDUCATOR
1989-2009

The poet William Butler Yeats wrote that “education is not the filling of a pail but the lighting of a fire.” Alan Hall not only believed that; he lived it. He joined Gateway in 1989 as an assistant professor of information technology and electronics, but his love of history compelled him to go back to school to earn a master of arts degree. He then returned to Gateway as a history professor. His passion for life and learning led him to co-found Gateway’s Study Abroad program in 2008, and he accompanied students to France for the program’s inaugural trip. His accomplishments at Gateway were many. They were cut short all too soon with his death in an accident in the summer of 2009. Just as Alan Hall was dedicated to inspiring his students to become their best selves, we dedicate this Night of Excellence to the memory of an outstanding teacher. One of Gateway’s own student-poets has written a tribute to Alan, and we share it with you here.

HALL WAYS

By Bonnie Speeg

Pssst. . . out there, in the Hall;
Gosh, is that you, Alan?
For an instant, I thought I saw you—
turning the corner; your back at a distance.
Maybe it was the all familiar Dockers and plaid shirt
suggesting your presence.

Yet a subtle offering unfulfilled
because it’s winter now,
and it’s the underside of the summer of your turning point.
The sweet, green grass of
that hot day of your final lesson
has been rendered sparse, tired, and without color.

The Hall is just the right place (and name)
to imagine I see you.
Walking down a corridor on campus,
I’d sometimes hear your voice travel
from the classroom.
Your tone lending texture to those Power Points.

In class, you were our messenger for all millennium;
steering us from the Old World to the New.
Civilizations and human episodes
falling one on top of another beneath your words.
A tutorial compass;
navigating the seas of knowledge.

No one could mistake your passion
of history and learning as anything less than your highest calling.
The French Revolution exploded into reality.
A student recovered her father in Pacific seas of combat;
your history class was real.

An ardent staff member
and submarine veteran confided
he would listen in on your WWII classes from the Hall. You talked of tanks—ships—and sad wars.
The staff member said he always wanted to sit in,
he said you had it just right.

True to your nature,
you didn’t think to mention
your trip to France on our semester break.
Instead, your photos of Dunkirk
marked the visit for us.
Your faith trickled out along with those pictures.

In the fields at Dunkirk
the sea of luminous, white crosses sweep toward the green horizon.
Right there in history class
you gift us with images of on into eternity—
A place you would become one with far too soon.

Our assignment is to remember.
